2	It was nice in our village. Till the night in October when the soldiers came.
3	My mother hid my little sister and me under the bed. When I peered out I could see my mother's feet in the black slippers
5	and the great, muddy boots of the soldiers.  When they were gone my father said: "We must leave right now."  "Why?" I asked.  "Because we do not think the way they think, my son.  Hurry!"
