2	In a small village in Malawi, where people had no money for lights,
	nightfall came quickly and hurried poor farmers to bed.
	But for William, the darkness was best for dreaming.
3	He dreamed of building things and taking them apart,
	like the trucks with bottle-cap wheels parked under his bed and pieces of radios that he'd crack open and wonder,
	If I can hear the music, then where is the band?
4	His grandpa's tales of magic also whispered in the pitch-black of his room. Witch planes passed through the window while ghost dancers twirled around the room, as if a …*
