Common Core Aligned Comprehension Assessment

rections: e what you know about The Giving Tree to answer each of the following questions. Which of these is NOT a key detail in understanding what the tree had to give? A The tree had large branches for shade. B The tree grew many apples. C The tree had a bia, strong trunk.			Name:		1
e what you know about the Giving free to answer each of the following questions. Which of these is NOT a key detail in understanding what the tree had to give? A the tree had large branches for shade. The tree had bigs strong trunk. The tree can be used to build houses and boots. The tree was always so thankild for the tree and never wanted to take anything. The tree respond each lime the boy returns and needs something? The tree teaches tim how to do the things he wants to do. The tree respond each time the boy returns and needs something? The tree respond each time the boy and asks him with anything eite. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the needs. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets berefall in with a supplier of the tree sets of the beginning that he story's message? The tree gets berefall in the boy and asks him with the has sony's message? The tree gets a wind and the tree helps the boy and asks him with the sony wind the sony has a sony at the sony ask provided in the story's message? The tree was nowing the story's message? The tree was nowing the story's message? The beginning that the sony beginning the story of the sony asks and the story's message? The beginning that the sony beginning the story of the sony asks and the story asks as	he Giving Tree CCSS Assessment			/9
e what you know about the Giving free to answer each of the following questions. Which of these is NOT a key detail in understanding what the tree had to give? A the tree had large branches for shade. The tree had bigs strong trunk. The tree can be used to build houses and boots. The tree was always so thankild for the tree and never wanted to take anything. The tree respond each lime the boy returns and needs something? The tree teaches tim how to do the things he wants to do. The tree respond each time the boy returns and needs something? The tree respond each time the boy and asks him with anything eite. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the needs. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him with the has not visited in so long. The tree gets berefall in with a supplier of the tree sets of the beginning that he story's message? The tree gets berefall in the boy and asks him with the has sony's message? The tree gets a wind and the tree helps the boy and asks him with the sony wind the sony has a sony at the sony ask provided in the story's message? The tree was nowing the story's message? The tree was nowing the story's message? The beginning that the sony beginning the story of the sony asks and the story's message? The beginning that the sony beginning the story of the sony asks and the story asks as	rections:
A The free had large branches for shade. B The free gew many applest. Common and the free had big, strong trunk. D The bey carved a heart into the free. What is the central message we can learn after reading about all the free gives to the boy? A Giving to someone you love can make you happy. B You can make a lot of money selling apples. Who do can be used to build houses and boats. The boy was always so thankful for the free and never wanted to take anything. How does the free respond each time the boy returns and needs something? A the free teaches him how to do the things he wants to do. The tree each shim how to do the things he wants to do. The tree each shim how to do the things he wants to do. The tree eyes mad at the boy and acist him why he has not visited in so long. What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? A "See you later!" The tree is now you have the tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything eite. The tree each shim how to show the tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything eite. The tree each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? The see you later! She you later! The tree is hardly to the tree the helps the boy that connects to the story's message? The later each why? (RL2.5) A she was only tree, and she knew he would out her down. The boy loved the tree very much. The boy loved the boy more than she loved herself. The boy loved the boy more than she loved herself. The boy loved the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tere? (RL2.6) The loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved make sure that the boy grew and bocame an old man during the story. The pictures show us that the boy grew and bocame an old man during the story. The pictures show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. The liberties don't give us any clo		i ving Tree to answer ea	ch of the fo	ollowing questions.
COSTI (a) The free grew many apples. (b) The free held a big, strong trunk. (c) The boy corved a heart into the free. What is the central message we can learn after reading about all the tree gives to the boy? (a) Giving to someone you love can make you happy. (b) You can make a lot of money selling apples. (c) Wood can be used to build houses and boots. (d) The boy was olways so thankful for the tree and never wanted to take anything. How does the free respond each time the boy returns and needs something? (d) The tree teaches him how to do the things he wants to do. (e) The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. (e) The tree was hop? (f) The tree gets mad of the boy and acist him why he had no red's something? (g) The tree gets mad of the boy and acist him why he had no red's something? (g) The tree gets mad of the boy and acist him why he had no red's something? (g) The tree gets mad of the boy and acist him why he had no red's something? (g) The tree gove later! (g) The tree sets incopy to see time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? (g) The tree was hop? (g) The tree sets wing. (g) The boy loved the free very much. (g) The loved making her happy by spending films with her. (g) The loved making her happy by spending films with her. (g) The loved making her happy by spending films with her. (g) The loved her for the rishas the could give him. (g) The loved making her happy by spending films with her. (g) The loved making her happy by spending films with her. (g) The lite and the boy was about how much films has passed? (RL27) (g) The lite and the boy bacame a teenager and last interest in the tree. (g) The lite of the tree. (g) The	I. Which of these is NOT a key d	letail in understanding v	what the tre	e had to give?
(a) The tree gew many apples. (b) The top carved a heart into the tree. (c) The tree had a big, strong trunk. (d) The boy carved a heart into the tree. (e) What is the central message we can learn after reading about all the tree gives to the boy? (e) Giving to someone you love can make you happy. (e) You can make a lot of money selling apples. (f) Wood can be used to build houses and boats. (e) The tree is thankful for the tree and never wanted to take anything. (e) Wood can be used to build houses and boats. (f) The tree leaches him how to do the things he wants to do. (g) The tree was half to almo and play and can't help him with anything gibe. (g) The tree was half to almo and play and can't help him with anything gibe. (g) The tree was half to almo and play and can't help him with anything gibe. (g) The tree was half to almo and play and can't help him with anything gibe. (g) The tree was half to almo and play and can't help him with anything gibe. (g) The tree was half to almo any the plant of the story's message? (g) The tree was half to almo any the plant of the story's message? (g) The tree was half to almo any the plant of the story's message? (g) The boy loved the tree very much. (g) The boy loved the tree very mu	A The tree had large bra	nches for shade.			Comr
Informatic In the tree had a styre and the tree. Informatic Inf	B The tree grew many a	oples.			_
What is the central message we can learn and fire reading about all the free gives to the boy?	C The tree had a big, stro	ong trunk.			•
A Giving to someone you love can make you happy. 1 You can make a lot of money selling apples. 2 Wood can be used to build houses and boots. 3 The boy was always so thankful for the free and never wanted to take anything. 1 How does the free respond each time the boy returns and needs something? A the free teaches him how to do the things he wants to do. 3 The tree is happy to see him and finds away to give him what he needs. 3 The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything ebe. 4 The free gets mad at the boy and asks him why he has not visited in so long. 1 What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the stary's message? 2 "And the tree was ho 3 "Please climb, swing. 3 The tree leth herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RLZ.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. 3 The boy loved the tree very much. 4 She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. 5 The tree leth herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RLZ.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. 5 The tree leth herself be cut down to a stump. 5 The tree leth herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RLZ.5) A She vace nay a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. 5 The tree leth herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RLZ.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. 5 The tree leth herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us offered to the ready of the beginning that helps us offered to the ready of the beginning that helps us offered to the ready of the beginning that helps us offered to the ready of the beginning that helps us offered to the ready of the beginning that helps us offered to the ready of the beginning the story. 6 The little	(D) The boy carved a hea	rt into the tree.
B You can make a lot of money selling apples. Wood can be used to build houses and boats. The boy was always so thankful for the tree and never wanted to take anything. How does the tree respond each time the boy returns and needs something? The tree is happy to see him now to do the things he wants to do. The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him why he has not visited in so long. What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? The tree was had The see you later! The was any to tree, and she knew he would cut her down. The begins us understand why? The boy loved the tree very much. The tree and the boy more than she loved herself. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the free? The late over making her happy by spending time with her. He loved her for her shade. He loved her for her shade. He loved her tree for her things she could give him. He loved her lillustrations show you about how much time has passed? The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. The litered ones the boy different? The pictures don't get older, but the boy does. The tree and the boy different? The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the free were a person, who would it remind you of? A stranger A parent or family member A construction worker A na apple farmer	2. What is the central message v	we can learn after read	ling about a	III the tree gives to the boy?
Coss Assessme 5. The tree left herself be cul down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us did the boy love the tree very much. Coss Assessme 6. The tree two does the tree respond each time the boy returns and needs something? A The tree treaches him how to do the things he wants to do. B The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. C The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. D The tree gets mad at the boy and ask him why he has not visited in so long. What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? A "See you later!" B "And the tree was had C "I will always be here T please climb, swing. CCSS Assessme 5. The tree left herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. B The boy loved the tree very much. S he loved the boy more than she loved herself. D She did not have money, but she had apples. 6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.6) A He loved making her hoppy by spending time with her. He loved the free for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show one doy in the life of the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree downs wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree always wants something from the boy always gives it to her. The tree downs happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.19) A parent or family member C A construction worker D A	(A) Giving to someone you	u love can make you h	арру.
B The boy was always so thankful for the free and never wanted to take anything. How does the tree respond each time the boy returns and needs something? A The tree teaches him how to do the things he wants to do. B The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. C The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. D The tree gets mad at the boy and ask him why he has not visited in so long. What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? A "See you later!" S "And the tree was ha C "I will always be here B "Please climb, swing. A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. B the boy loved the tree very much. A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. The boy loved the tree very much. S the tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL 2.6) A He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the free for the things she could give him. B He loved the free for the things she could give him. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. The pictures shor us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. They show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. They show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. They show us that the boy does. The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. The tree down's wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree down's wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree down's wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree down's wants something from the boy only lakes. The tree down's wants something from the boy always gives it to her. The tree down's wants something from the boy only lakes. The tree may be a parent or family member A cor	B You can make a lot of	money selling apples.
How does the tree respond each time the boy returns and needs something? A The tree teaches him how to do the things he wants to do. B The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. C The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. D The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him why he has not visited in so long. What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? A "See you later!" S "And the tree was had "I will always be here. The tree left herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A she was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. The boy loved the tree very much. She loved the boy more than she loved herself. She did not have money, but she had apples. 1. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.4) A He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show one day in the life of the tree. The lillustrations show one day in the life of the tree. The pictures show one day in the life of the tree. The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. How are the tree and the boy both like apples. The tree adventy swants something from the boy, and the boy always gives if to her. The tree doesn't get older, but the boy only takes. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.1) A parent or family member A construction worker A parent or family member A construction worker A parent or family member	\sim
A The tree teaches him how to do the things he wants to do. 1 The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. 1 The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. 2 The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him why he has not visited in so long. 1 What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? 3 See you later! 5 The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (R.L.2.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. 5 The boy loved the tree very much. CCSS Assessme 5. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (R.L.2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved the free for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (R.L.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show one day in the life of the tree. The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (R.L.2.9) A The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (R.L.2.9) A The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (R.L.2.10) A parent or family member C A construction warker D An apple farmer	(D) The boy was always so	thankful for the tree ar	nd never wo	anted to take anything.
B The tree is happy to see him and finds a way to give him what he needs. C The tree wants him to climb and play and can't help him with anything else. D The tree gets mad at the boy and asks him why he has not visited in so long. What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? A "See you later!" S "And the tree was ha C "I will always be here D "Please climb, swing. S. The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (R.2.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. B The boy loved the tree very much. She loved the boy more than she loved herself. D She did not have money, but she had apples. S. The tree and the boy had different points of view an love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (R.2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved there for the things she could give him. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed? He ware the tree and the boy different? (R.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (R.2.10) A parent or family member C A construction warker D An apple farmer	. How does the tree respond ed	ach time the boy returns	s and need:	s something?
CCSS Assessme 5. The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A she was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. She loved the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.6) A the loved her for her shade. She loved her for her shade. B he loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show on eday in the life of the tree. The pictures don't give us any cube about how much time has passed? He have doesn't get older, but the boy does. He tree and the boy bid like apples. The pictures don't give us any cube about how much time has passed. He have doesn't get older, but the boy does. The pictures don't get older, but the boy does. The tree and the boy bill like apples. The tree doesn't get older, but the boy only takes. The tree doesn't get older, but the boy only takes. The tree doesn't get older, but the boy only takes. The tree downys wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction warker D An apple farmer	(A) The tree teaches him h	ow to do the things he	wants to de	0.
What is repeated each time the free helps the boy that connects to the story's message? See you later!"	B The tree is happy to see	e him and finds a way t	to give him	what he needs.
What is repeated each time the tree helps the boy that connects to the story's message? A "See you later!" That the tree was had the story is message? S. The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL.2.5) A she was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. The boy loved the boy more than she loved herself. She loved the boy more than she loved herself. She loved the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the free? (RL.2.6) He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. They show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. He ree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. The tree and the boy both like apples. The tree and the boy both like apples. The tree and the boy both like apples. The tree aways wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A parent or family member	C) The tree wants him to a	limb and play and car	n't help him	with anything else.
A "see you later!" B "And the tree was ha C "I will always be here D "Please climb, swing, CCSS Assessme 5. The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A) She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. B) The boy loved the tree very much. CCSS Assessme 5. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.6) A) He loved her for her shade. B) He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D) He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B) They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C) The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D) The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL2.9) A) The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B) The tree and the boy both like apples. C) The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A) A stranger A) parent or family member C) A construction worker D) An apple farmer	D The tree gets mad at t	ne boy and asks him wh	hy he has n	ot visited in so long.
S. The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A. She was only a free, and she knew he would cut her down. B. The boy loved the tree very much. CCSS Assessme She loved the boy more than she loved herself. D. She did not have money, but she had apples. 6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.6) A. He loved her for her shade. B. He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D. He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B. They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C. The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D. The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL2.9) A. The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B. The tree and the boy both like apples. C. The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A. A stranger A. A parent or family member C. A construction worker D. An apple farmer	I. What is repeated each time t	he tree helps the boy th	nat connect	s to the story's message?
S. The tree lets herself be cut down to a stump. What does the tree say at the beginning that helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A She was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. B The boy loved the tree very much. She loved the boy more than she loved herself. B She did not have money, but she had apples. 6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree alvays wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree divays wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree divays wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer	A "See you later!"
helps us understand why? (RL2.5) A she was only a tree, and she knew he would cut her down. B The boy loved the tree very much. CCSS Assessme A she loved the boy more than she loved herself. B she did not have money, but she had apples. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. The pictures show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer	B "And the tree was ha	5 FL 1 - 1-1-1-1	,	- I - I - I - I - I - I - I - I
CCSS Assessme 8 The boy loved the tree very much. She loved the boy more than she loved herself. D She did not have money, but she had apples. 6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL.2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer	c "I will always be here t				rree say at the beginning that
She loved the boy more than she loved herself. D She did not have money, but she had apples. 6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (R.L.2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The itree divays wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer	(D) "Please climb, swing, a	A She was onl	ly a tree, ar	nd she knew he would cut her	down.
D She did not have money, but she had apples. 6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL.2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		B The boy lov	ed the tree	very much.
6. The tree and the boy had different points of view on love. In what way did the boy love the tree? (RL.2.6) A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer	CCSS Assessme
Itel oved her for her shade. A He loved her for her shade. B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. B How are the tree and the boy different? (RL2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer
B He loved making her happy by spending time with her. He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		tree? (RL.2.6)	50.5 GGS GC 1		what way did the boy love the
He loved the tree for the things she could give him. D He wanted to make sure that no one ever hurt her. 7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		\simeq
The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer					er.
7. What do the illustrations show you about how much time has passed? (RL.2.7) The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer
The pictures show us that the boy grew and became an old man during the story. B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		0
B They show us that the boy became a teenager and lost interest in the tree. C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer				 Colored Scales Foreignes (1999) (Section 27) - Colored Scales Foreignes (1997) (Section 3) (Section 3) 	7. F. (1907) (1907) (1907) (1907) (1907)
C The illustrations show one day in the life of the tree. D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer
D The pictures don't give us any clue about how much time has passed. 8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		\sim			ost interest in the tree.
8. How are the tree and the boy different? (RL.2.9) A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		\sim
A The tree doesn't get older, but the boy does. B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		 	2022	July 190 M 10 M	time nas passea.
B The tree and the boy both like apples. C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		O = 1	Angel Walled	100 100 1000 1000 100 100 100 100 100 1
C The tree always wants something from the boy, and the boy always gives it to her. The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer				• ************************************
The tree gives everything she has, but the boy only takes. 9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer			90000		the how always aives it to her
9. The tree was happy when the boy was happy. If the tree were a person, who would it remind you of? (RL.2.10) A A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer
A stranger A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer
A parent or family member C A construction worker D An apple farmer		remind you of? (RI
C A construction worker D An apple farmer			family	ahar.
D An apple farmer				IDE/
		0 11		t 2 nd Grade Readina Standard	s for Literature BookPagez.com

Common Core Assessment: One question for each Reading Informational OR Reading Literature standard (1-9)

Answer Key