My Reading Goal for January

Read a book...

about someone with a goal	while drinking something cold	with a blue and white cover	to someone younger than you	with characters who learn a lesson on a Sunday at 2PM	written by someone named Shel	with no words	with a four-syllable title	about your favorite pet while drinking something hot	about penguins or polar bears	to a new toy	that was published last year	at the library while sitting under your kitchen table	with no pictures	about Winter	about someone who tries something new	on your favorite day of the week

Color in each reading challenge after you finish reading the book.
