My Reading Goal for November

Read a book...

that takes place outside	to someone over the phone	that you haven't read in a long time	with a brown cover	that is historical fiction on a Thursday night	written by someone named Jacqueline	about Thanksgiving	with a three-word title	to your grandma or grandpa with a turkey on the cover	about family traditions	while in the car	with your best friend	that takes place in the present while eating dessert	about your favorite holiday	with recipes	three times in a row	on a Sunday Morning

Color in each reading challenge after you finish reading the book.
