

Synthesize

How did your opinion of the main character change as you read the book?

Synthesize

How did your understanding of the problem change as you read the book? What happened to change your thinking?

Synthesize

What is something that you learned about yourself as a reader today?

Synthesize

Use 10 words or less to explain why synthesizing is a smart strategy to use as a reader.

Synthesize

What did you like and dislike about the book you read today? Explain your opinion.

Synthesize

How did the problem in the book force a character to change? How did the character change?

Synthesize

Which comprehension strategies did you use while reading today? Which strategies were most helpful?

Synthesize

Who was the "bad guy" in your book? What did you think of the "bad guy" in the beginning, middle, and end of your book?

Synthesize

What is the main character's perspective on the problem? Do you agree with the perspective? Why or why not?

Synthesize

What did you learn about the world or life while reading today? How will you use this information?

Synthesize

How did the settings in your book change over the course of the story? Did you enjoy one setting more than another? Why?

Synthesize

Tell about a place in the book that you read today where you felt happy or sad. What made you feel that way?

Synthesize

Tell about a place in your book where you were confused or "stuck." What did you do to get "unstuck"?

Synthesize

Tell about a new word that you read today. How did you figure out the meaning of the new word?

Synthesize

Would you recommend the book that you read today to a friend? Why or why not?

Synthesize

What did you like about the way your author told the story that you read today?

Synthesize

What are some reading habits that you have when reading fiction?

Synthesize

Tell about a point in the book that you're reading that made you stop to think. What did you think about?

